

I'll Make Believe That She's You

C

I can't understand how the touch of her hand
on my cheek leaves me feeling

F

so weak in the knees and blue.

G

She pulls her hair back

C

The same way I've seen you do.

C

I've had enough my recovery's tough and I'm not out here looking

F

to start up with someone new.

G

So in the end, just before I surrender

C

I'll make believe that she's you.

Beautiful faces I've seen in these places could make your heart heavy and sad

F

with a drink or two.

G

I don't need that yet I've got a sea of regret

to go through.

C

She sits there waiting while I'm still debating there's a cold night ahead we'd be helping each other through.

G

So in the end just before I surrender

C

I'll make believe that she's you.

F

I'll make believe that I'm

kissing the lips that are gone.
