

G                    Bm                    C            G
I'm writing a song because I have to
Em            Am            D
Cuz' if I don't I'll go insane
C            G            B7            C            A7                    D            G
Sittin' around for way too long, wonderin' where I went wrong

G                    Bm                    C                    G
Pretty soon I'm singin', but I'm not sure what about
G                    Bm                    C                    G
Guitar strings are ringin' and the words come out of my mouth
Em            D            Em                            A7
Never goin' back to a world where music dies
C    D
And I won't give in or listen to the lies

CHORUS

G                    Bm                    C                    G
I wrote another lyric...does it come across too contrived?
G                    Bm                    C                    G
I put a chorus near it, to keep the song alive
Em            D            Em                            A7
Never goin' back to a world where music dies
C    D
And I won't give in or listen to the lies
